Programme description

Graduates of Master’s Programme in International Gender Studies possess broad knowledge in the fields of international organizations, human rights, minority policies, the functioning of mass media and their impact on socio-political life. They command an advanced and critical knowledge of contemporary gender theories, apply different theoretical perspectives in the analysis of gender issues and critically scrutinize different standpoints and feminist empirical evidence through reasoned and coherent argument, demonstrating the awareness of themselves as situated experts. They are recognized as specialists of equal opportunity policies, with particular regard to policies enforced by the European Commission, but also, they are prepared to deploy them in the Polish context. As a result, they are able to provide valuable assistance in the development of many projects funded by the European Community. Since the teaching programme includes also practical coaching in applying for work at the European Commission, they can apply for positions at the EC. Moreover, being fluent in English (both spoken and written), and having acquired the ability to combine knowledge from various areas, they may be employed in the media as well as institutions dealing with socio-cultural issues.

Tuition

The charge of 2000 PLN/year applies for Polish and the EU/EFTA citizens. 5500 EUR/year for students from outside the EU/EFTA.

Deadline for application

Call for Erasmus Mundus scholarships: 3rd of February 2020. Call for self-financed students: Spring 2020
